

Kick up your heels and win

Dancing with the Stars judge, Mark Wilson, will be running and judging a line-dancing competition at Tamworth's popular Country Music event this year.

At 10.00am on Sunday, January 23, festival-goers are invited to meet Mark Wilson at Bicentennial Park for a free line-dancing lesson. Once people get the knack of the routine, he will judge the 2011 Line-Dancer of the Year who will win a year's worth of wine.

Local musicians will provide the music and entertainment for the competition.

Senior Brand Manager, Travis Fuller, is excited to introduce a slightly different twist to what is known as Australia's biggest country music festival of the year.

"The 2011 Jayco Tamworth Country Music Festival is known for showcasing some of Australia's finest musical talent. Music makes people want to dance, so we've joined with Mark Wilson to help people learn country dancing and have a great time." said Travis.

Yellow Tail is the official wine sponsor of the 2011 Tamworth Country Music Festival and will bring country music fans popular wine varieties including Bubbles, Moscato, Pinot Grigio and Shiraz to enjoy as they watch the many music acts on offer.

The Yellow Tail kombi van named Bubbles, complete with refrigeration systems and a fold out wine bar, will be supplying wines at several music concerts throughout the two-week festival. These include:

- The official opening concert, Friday, January 14, 2011
- CMAA Awards Invite-only after party, Sunday, January 23, 2011
- Kenny Rogers Experience, Monday, January 24, 2011
- Jayco Country Theatre Bar at Tamworth Regional Entertainment Centre, January 14-20, 2011

The 2011 Jayco Tamworth Country Music Festival will take place on January 14 to 23, 2011.
