

Kick up your tail

at The Yellow Tail Longest Line Dance

Got the itch in your boots that means you have to dance, have to swing to the music and just have to help out a good cause?

If you have you are invited to kick up your tails and join a record breaking attempt for Australia's longest line dance at the 40th Jayco Tamworth Country Music Festival. The event will take place on Peel Street at 8am on Saturday, January 28, – just before the Country Music Cavalcade.

Festival sponsors Yellow Tail are supporting the record attempt and, together with professional line dancer Chris Watson, they hope to fill the main street of the Country Music Capital with more than 6,000 people and dancers are encouraged to wear something yellow for the dance - and Yellow Tail will hand out free t-shirts to the first 700 people to arrive.

Chris Watson has been organising the line dancing event at the Tamworth Country Music Festival for seven years with the assistance of the Rotary Club of Tamworth First Light.

“Line dancing is a really great social way to enjoy country music. Each year, thousands of people take part and given this is the 40th anniversary of the festival, we think we’ll be able to smash the record,” Chris said. “You don’t have to be a dancer or know any line dancing steps to get involved The routine is really easy and fun and will be there to direct everyone.”

Festival-goers can purchase a dance ticket for $5 in the street or pre-purchase from Tamworth Visitor Information Centre or Festival HQ. All money raised is donated to Rotary International.

Yellow Tail is the official wine sponsor of the 2012 Tamworth Country Music Festival and the Kombi wine bar (affectionately named Bubbles after the popular wine variety) will provide great tasting wines at the Golden Guitar Awards after party. The Kombi will also participate in the Cavalcade after the line dancing event.
